

Matt Havens

Introduction

Our next speaker was voted by Home and Garden Magazine as "America's Next Big Thing" in 2001. Sadly, the issue was never published.

He's worked with Fortune 100 companies all across America, determined to single-handedly kill email and replace all communication with hashtags. Straight and to the point - that's his style.

Now he's turned his focus to helping others - determined to helping you succeed in part by telling you how to do things really, really badly - because as he likes to say, improving your business doesn't have to be boring. He is the most entertaining and most unorthodox generational speaker you've never seen.

Ladies and gentlemen, please help me welcome Matt Havens.
