

AV Requirements

The AV requirements needed to put on a great event are important, but Matt believes it shouldn't be the event planner's job to worry about it. Matt is extremely flexible and will work directly with the AV staff on-site to ensure everything goes smoothly, so you can rest easy and focus on putting together a great event.

In a perfect world, Matt would request:

- A wireless, lavalier microphone. Frankly, anything which will project his voice will work.
- A laptop computer projector. Matt's slides are a focal point for his presentations. His slides are designed to integrate humor and bring the experience to life, so the brighter and higher quality projector available, the better.
- A laptop to run the presentation. Matt always brings his computer as a backup, but the preference would be to run the presentation off an existing laptop staged in advance.
- A handheld clicker to advance the slides. Again, Matt will bring a backup as well.

That's it. That's literally all he needs.
